

October 29, 2013

Dear Bromwell Parents,

I would like to invite all Bromwell Parents to a community meeting on November 7, 2013 at 6:30pm for an important conversation regarding our School's Performance Framework. Each year, Denver Public Schools releases a rating for each school based on several criteria, which will be discussed at our meeting. In addition, we will be discussing what this rating means for our community and how we can work together to best serve our students. Your voice is important during this discussion, and your attendance would be greatly appreciated.

Furthermore, we will be examining the TCAP (Transitional Colorado Assessment Program-formally known as the CSAP) for academic achievement and student growth in Reading, Writing and Math. Our community meeting will be facilitated by Jeff Wein, an Executive Principal Coach and a data analyst from Denver Public Schools.

I would also like to make myself available to parents with a series of Principal Coffees beginning every Thursday during the months of November through early December from 8:30-9:15am on the stage in the All-purpose room. Because the conversations may have a different lens depending on the grade level, I would like to meet with parents focused on the following grade levels. However, please don't let this schedule hinder your attendance. You may certainly attend any session that best fits your schedule.

- ✚ November 14th .....Kindergarten and First Grade
- ✚ November 21st .....Second and Third Grade
- ✚ December 5th .....Fourth and Fifth Grade

These principal coffees may address question regarding the SPF or the Unified Improvement Plan if parents were unable to attend the November 7th Community Meeting, and/or would be open to any other questions that parents may have and want clarification. I am looking forward to the opportunity to connect, and reach out to parents on a more personal level.

Sincerely,

Jody Cohn, Bromwell Principal
